Your efforts to improve care transitions and reduce rehospitalizations just got more support!

Within 30 days of being discharged, one in five Medicare patients returns to the hospital – often with serious preventable complications. Improving transitions of care requires a collaborative community approach. Join us to create a future state for safer and better transitions of care. Your participation is needed if you have a desire to improve any of the following:

- Information flow to and from the hospital to primary or specialty care
- Information flow from the hospital to home health, a nursing home or skilled nursing facility
- Timely and accurate summaries of patient conditions, medications, therapies and care plans

Qualis Health is offering statewide care transitions learning opportunities via face-to-face meetings and webinars for providers, community-based organizations and stakeholders. Assistance will focus on Idaho issues and offer evidence-based interventions and opportunities to share ideas with peers. The goal of these sessions is to give you specific ideas to test and implement in your setting.
