

Instructions for RN Jeopardy:

1. Go to the very first slide of your PowerPoint and launch your slideshow by clicking on the slideshow icon.
2. Click anywhere on each slide to advance the slideshow to the game board.
3. Once you get to game board, the fun begins! Click on a dollar amount in any category to view its clue.
Remember: Don't click on the colored buttons that are in the background of the dollar amount, click only on the dollar amount itself.
4. Once you read the clue, click anywhere on the clue slide to advance to its answer in the form of a question.
5. On the answer slides, click anywhere on the slide to advance back to the game board.
6. Repeat steps 3-5 to keep playing! Have fun!
7. You may click on the applause section in the upper left corner for an applause sound effect.
8. When you have completed all the game board sections, click on the Final Jeopardy in the upper Right corner to proceed to the Final Jeopardy "answer." Click on the answer screen to proceed to the "question." The game is now complete!

Helpful hints:

This game can be fun when played with individuals playing against each other or as teams of several people playing against each other. Each team can have a spokesperson, who answers for the team or selects the game board topic/dollar amount. Bells, whistles or buzzers may be used for each team to answer each topic. It can be fun to play the game according to normal jeopardy rules, or get creative and make your own! For example, if a team answers incorrectly, allow another team to steal the "question" and get half the points!

Psychotropic medications must not be the first resort when addressing these.

What are behaviors?

The facility nurse should monitor for these, when residents are on psychotropic medications and report concerns to the physician.

What are side effects?

This person must review the resident's use of psychotropic medications every 6 months.

Who is the physician?

This is a medication used to restrict freedom of movement and would not be appropriate for assisted living.

What is a chemical restraint?

The facility must provide this to the physician every 6 months, so he/she can make an informed decision regarding the resident's use of psychotropic medications.

What are behavior updates?

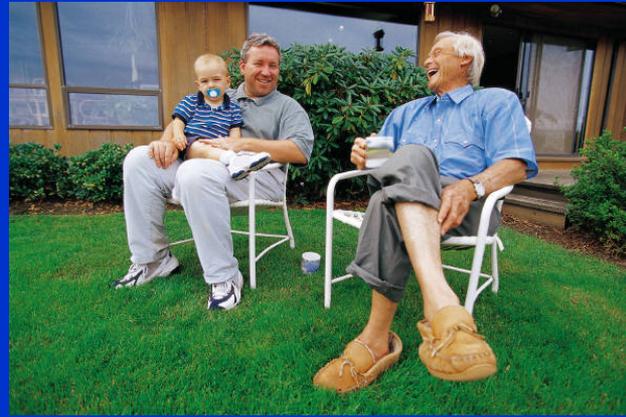

The facility RN must visit the facility every 90 days or when this occurs with a resident.

What is a change of condition?

The facility nurse must assure that these are current, reviewed and implemented.

What are physician orders?

The facility nurse must make recommendations to this person regarding medication needs or health needs requiring follow-up.

Who is the administrator?

The RN must evaluate a resident's ability to self-medicate after this many days.

What is every 90 days?

The facility nurse must do this before UAPs assist with medications or perform nursing functions (hint: must occur
according to the BON rules).

What is provide delegation?

The nurse must assure that each resident's medication label is congruent with this.

What are physician orders?

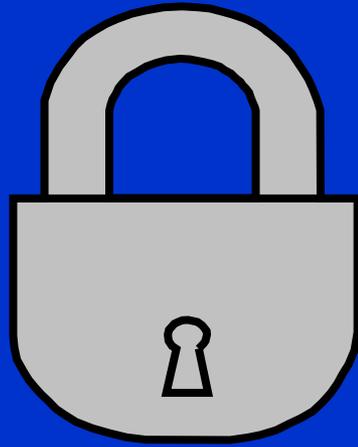

The license nurse or pharmacist may fill these in Assisted Living.

What are medi-sets/bubblepacks?

Medications must be kept in this type of area.

What is a locked area? (also away from poisons, toxic chemicals and cleaning agents)

DAILY
Place A Wager
DOUBLE

This is the process whereby a non-licensed care provider is delegated tasks by a licensed nurse to aid a person who cannot independently self-administer medications.

What is Medication Assistance?

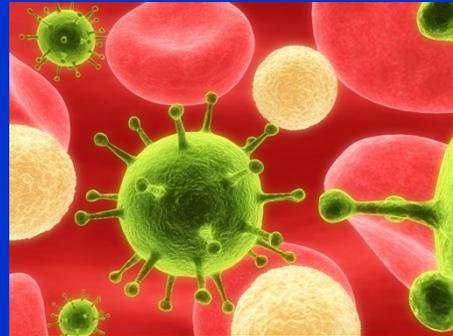

Discontinued, outdated or unused medications cannot accumulate for longer than this time-frame.

What is 30 days?

If a resident is admitted with an AV shunt, it must have been inserted within this time-frame before admission.

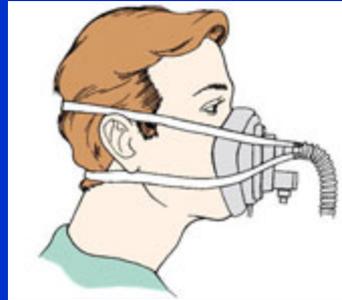

What is 21 days?

A resident with this type of infection in an active stage, may not be admitted or retained.

What is MRSA?

A resident may not be retained or admitted who is on a mechanically supported breathing system except for residents who use this.

What is a CPAP (continuous positive airway pressure)?

A resident with this stage of pressure ulcer may not be retained or admitted.

What is a stage III or IV?

A resident who is fed by this may not be admitted or retained.

What is a syringe?

The facility nurse should recommend changes to this; it is a care plan in nursing language and reflects a resident's care needs.

What is the Negotiated Service agreement (NSA)?

Evidence of this should be in a resident's record. It should be completed by a physician no later than 6 months prior to a resident's admission.

What is a history and physical?

This must be documented if a resident refuses cares/medications.

What is notification of the physician?

Calls to this person must be documented.

Who is the physician or RN?

This must be documented when a PRN medication is used.

What is the reason for the PRN medication?

The facility must have signed and dated copies of these from outside service agencies.

What are Care Plans/Care Notes?

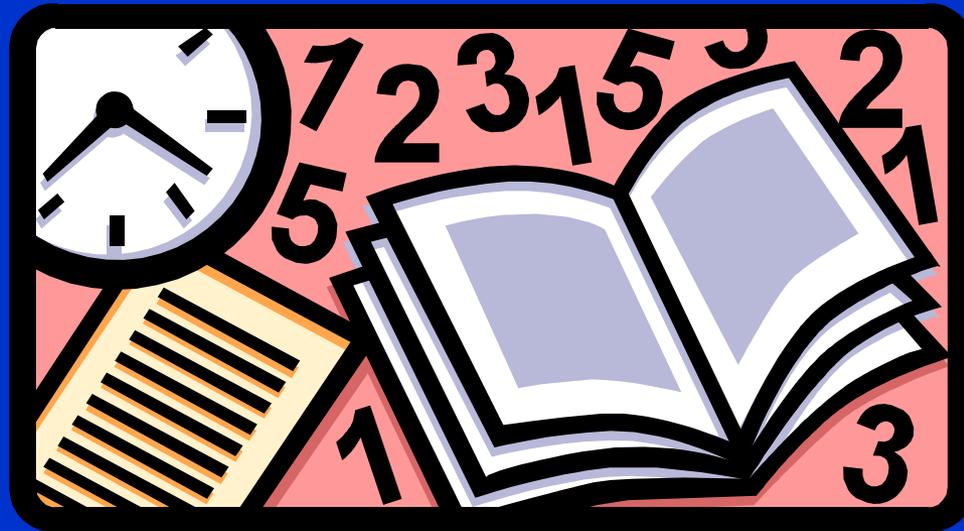

This must be used when providing cares to residents to prevent the transmission of diseases according to the CDC guidelines.

What are universal precautions?

This should be developed when a resident exhibits behaviors.

What is a behavior
management plan?

This agency must be notified
within 24 hours of reportable incidents.

What is Licensing and Certification?

Assistance with medications must abide by these rules.

What are the board of nursing rules?
