What is Idaho Home Choice?

Idaho Home Choice is a voluntary program that helps seniors and people with disabilities move from institutions into communities and receive appropriate services and supports.

Who is Eligible for Idaho Home Choice?

To participate, you must:

- Be a resident of Idaho.
- Have lived in a qualified institutional setting for at least 90 consecutive days.
- Be eligible for Medicaid when you're discharged.
- Qualify for the Aged and Disabled Waiver, the Developmental Disability Waiver, or Medicaid State Plan Services.
- Move to a "qualified residence" in the community.

What is a Qualified Residence?

A "qualified residence" is:

- A home that you or your family owns or leases.
- An apartment that only you live in that has living, sleeping, bathing, and cooking areas; and locks on doors that lead outside the apartment.
- A home in the community where you and three other people live. This could be a certified family home or small assisted living facility.

What Idaho Home Choice Services are Available?

Idaho Home Choice services include:

- Transition managers to help you relocate.
- Up to $2,000 to help pay for household furnishings, household goods and supplies, moving expenses, and utility or security deposits.
- Waiver benefits and services including home modifications.
- Medicaid State Plan benefits.

Who Can I Contact if I Have Questions?

If you have questions or need more information, you can call the Idaho CareLine at 2-1-1, email us at IHCMFP@dhw.idaho.gov, or visit our Web site at: Idahohomechoice.dhw.idaho.gov.
