

Idaho Consortium for EMS Education:

A body of professional EMS educational institutions, acting as a consortium, is critical to the continued success of the Idaho EMS education system. Considering the relative complexity of current professional and technical training programs, it is unreasonable for the EMS Bureau and state EMS advisory committee to serve as the sole decision maker for EMS education issues without a mechanism for input from the community of professional EMS educators in Idaho.