

Approved households will receive February SNAP in January!

Early Food Stamp (SNAP) Issuance for Approved Households begins January 20, 2019

Due to the federal shutdown, Idaho is issuing early food stamp benefits on January 20 for all households with approved benefits for February.

All households approved for February benefits as of January 15 will receive their February benefits on January 20. These households will not receive another benefit in February.

We encourage SNAP customers to plan their purchases carefully so that their available food stamps last until their March issuance date.

Please note, all households that complete a re-evaluation after January 15 for February, and are approved, will receive their February benefits on their regularly scheduled February issuance date.

If households need additional food assistance or have questions about other services available to them, contact the 2-1-1 Idaho CareLine by dialing 2-1-1 or 1-800-926-2588.
