SUBJECT: Notification of Final Rule Published- Emergency Preparedness

Memorandum Summary

- Emergency Preparedness Requirements for Medicare and Medicaid Participating Providers and Suppliers: On September 8, 2016 the Federal Register posted the final rule Emergency Preparedness Requirements for Medicare and Medicaid Participating Providers and Suppliers. The regulation goes into effect on November 16, 2016.
- Health care providers and suppliers affected by this rule must comply and implement all regulations one year after the effective date, on November 16, 2017.

Background

The Emergency Preparedness Rule outlines the requirements for all providers and suppliers in regards to planning, preparing and training for emergency situations. The rule includes emergency plans, communication and accountability requirements as well as the training of staff. While there are minor variations based on the specific provider type, the rule is applicable to all providers and suppliers. An Emergency Preparedness training course is anticipated to be ready by early 2017.

The Final Rule can be located at <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection>

Resources for Providers

While for the Emergency Preparedness Rule many resources have been listed to assist providers and suppliers, the information does not fully assist providers in gaining an understanding of the all-hazards emergency preparedness methodology.

Additional information can be found at <https://www.cms.gov/Medicare/Provider-Enrollment-and-Certification/SurveyCertEmergPrep/Emergency-Prep-Rule.html>. We will continue to update the website with additional resources.
