Tamara:

Spravato is unique in the treatment of depression. I am glad it is on the medical benefit side but that is a problem for some clinics to stock the doses of Spravato and not be confident of payment for the product. We need more treatments for depression to decrease suicidal activity and prevent cost of expensive hospitalizations. Spravato has been shown to treat refractory depression and can make production citizens.

Please make it as available as possible to these desperate people.
Thank you
